WORDS FROM OUR FOUNDING PASTOR

My dear readers,

1. He is not here

Christianity stands — or falls — with the doctrine of the resurrection of Jesus Christ. Without the resurrection we have nothing to live for, nothing to believe in, no future to look forward to. As the Apostle Paul wrote in 1 Corinthians 15:14 and 17, “And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain...ye are yet in your sins.”

Men through the ages have attacked this vital and foundational doctrine. Scientific men especially are opposed to the miraculous elements in the Gospels. “Intellectual giants” like Huxley have declared with arrogant finality that “miracles do not happen”, while others try to evolve a non-miraculous Christianity. The Church of England bishop of Durham, Dr David Jenkins, dismisses the resurrection with the mischievous suggestion that the disciples of Jesus “pinched His body away.”

More honest men (like Frank Morrison, the brilliant London lawyer who wrote “Who Moved the Stone”) admit, after serious study that, purely from the evidence of the Gospel accounts, the resurrection stands as an unassailable historic fact. Morrison had started out to write a book to “debunk” the resurrection. He ended writing quite the opposite, being compelled by sheer force of evidence to uphold the Gospel’s authenticity.

In Luke’s account, we are presented with the evidence of at least six eye-witnesses. What evidence? (a) The stone had been rolled away when they arrived at the sepulchre very early in the morning. (b) The body of Jesus was not in the tomb. (c) The angel’s message: “Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen: remember how he spake unto you when he was yet in Galilee” (Luke 24:5-6). Our Lord had risen, as He said!

But when these things were brought to the apostles, they “seemed to them as idle tales” (Luke 24:11)! How about you, my friend?

2. Walking and talking with Jesus

For the two disciples on the Emmaus road, life was never so sad and dreary. They had high hopes in the Lord, having “trusted that it had been he which should have redeemed Israel” (Luke 24:21). The crucifixion put an abrupt end to all their expectations. But that morning they had heard startling reports from certain of their womenfolk of an empty tomb and a vision of angels who said that Jesus was alive. Could it be that Jesus had risen from the dead, as the angels testified? If this were true, where was Jesus? No one had seen Him alive!

Doubt and gloom clouded the minds of the two disciples as they reasoned and debated along the way, until the risen Lord Himself joined them. “But their eyes were holden that they should not know him” (Luke 24:16). Jesus did not reveal Himself to them, for a purpose, in order that they might more freely express their innermost doubts and fears, and in order that He might expound the Scriptures as a detached “third person.” So He did, explaining to them all the things concerning Himself. And how their hearts did burn within them as He opened to them the Scriptures (Luke 24:32).

We too are, as it were, on the road to Emmaus. Until the risen Lord comes into our life, our walk will be dreary and sad, gloomy and purposeless. If the One on whom we had pinned our hopes is dead and gone, what future is there for us? Sadly, this is the state of many Christians. The risen Saviour has yet to come into their lives. To all true believers our Lord says, “Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations...and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen” (Matt 28:19-20). When the risen Lord comes into your life, He will walk and talk with you, and your heart will also burn within you. Things will never be the same again!

3. The risen Lord ascends

In His post-Resurrection ministry among His disciples our Lord appeared ten times on record. At the end of forty days He visibly ascended up to heaven from the Mount of Olives, bringing to a victorious conclusion His earthly ministry. Let us ask ourselves: what are the implications of our Lord's Ascension? We can think of four.

a) It was divine strategy. Before His death, Jesus told the disciples: "It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you" (John 16:7). The coming of the Holy Spirit Comforter was to inaugurate the era of the presence of the Spirit in the Church, fulfilling our Lord's promise, "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world" (Matt 28:20).

b) It was to prepare us a place. "In my Father's house are many mansions... I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also" (John 14:2-3). Peter described this as "an inheritance incorruptible... that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you" (1 Pet 1:4).

c) It was to intercede for us. Seated at the Father's right hand of glory, His atoning work completed (Heb 10:12), Jesus makes intercession for us (Rom 8:34; Heb 7:25), pleading with the Father on our behalf, looking after our interests. Nowhere in the New Testament is He said to be continually offering Himself in Heaven, for His one sacrifice of Himself was complete (Heb 10:12-14).

d) It was to await His return to earth. Soon, at a time appointed by the Father, when "his enemies be made his footstool" (Heb 10:13), our Lord shall return, "this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven" (Acts 1:11). Then, "every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him" (Rev. 1:7).

4. A crystal clear commission

By Rev Denis Shelton

Some years ago our family purchased a tent. When we brought it home, we found there were no instructions with it: we had great difficulty trying to put all the pieces together that would enable us to have a somewhat habitable piece of canvas over our heads on a holiday!

It is most fitting that our journey through Matthew should conclude with a crystal clear commission from our Lord. Various called “The Great Commission” or “The Christian’s Marching Orders”, our Lord leaves us in no doubt as to what our responsibilities are. We see firstly that our commission is Practical: “Go ye therefore”. It implies action; the Lord has commissioned people to teach all nations — an eminently practical activity.

Then we see that the Commission is Plenary — “all nations.” Revelation 5:9 reminds us that the redeemed come from “out of every kindred and tongue and people and nation.” Every Christian church should have a plenary missionary vision.

Furthermore the Commission is Purposeful in baptising the believers in the triune Name and instructing them in the whole counsel of God; no “flitting” here and there, but establishing churches for the care and instruction of believers.

Finally the Commission is Protected: and this in two ways. Firstly by Christ’s authority: “All power is given unto me”; secondly, by Christ’s action: “Lo I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world.” This promised protection comes from One whose promise is (as Livingstone puts it) “The word of a Gentleman.”

Who knows where this crystal clear commission will lead you and me? Dare we ignore it? Does your Church only pay lip-service to it, or worse still ignore it altogether? May our Lord’s parting words (the final ones in Matthew) ring in our ears, and may we work it out in obedience. Then, we shall enjoy His presence now and praise Him around the throne in Heaven!

Yours faithfully in the Saviour’s Service,
Dr SH Tow

Reflection BPCWA 29th anniversary

As I write this article about BPCWA's 29th anniversary, a couple of Bible verses immediately come to my mind from Psalm 103:1-2. Here the Psalmist David said, "Bless the Lord, O my soul and all that is within me, bless His holy name. Bless the Lord, O my soul and forget not all His benefits."

All thanks and praise to the Lord for His faithfulness and His wonderful work upon BPCWA all these years. As we come to celebrate this great joyous occasion of our 29th anniversary, we must remember it is only by the grace of God and of His great mercy that has enabled us to continue to be His witness in this part of the world.

Thank God for the past 29 years and how He has seen us through despite many challenges, difficulties, testings and ups and downs. 29 years of God's unfailing grace, through rough seas and smooth at times, yet our God is merciful and gracious in preserving and sustaining us with His almighty power.

Celebrating 29 eventful years of the Lord's wonderful grace to BPCWA, we can only said, Great is our God and greatly to be praised. While writing this article, I am reminded of the perilous time ahead of us and how much time that we have to serve our God with our lives. The world is certainly not looking better as we listen to the news. Intense persecution of Christians has increased in various parts of the world. How much time do we have to evangelise to our non-Christian friends, loved ones, relatives and others around us?

Can BPCWA continue to press on in spreading the gospel of Jesus Christ? Can each one of us continue to remain faithful and love our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ? May this 29th anniversary not only reminds us of God's blessings but also spur our hearts to serve Him until our Lord returns.

I am always reminded of this hymn, Must I go and empty handed?

Must I go and empty handed, thus my dear Redeemer meet?

Not one day of service give Him , Lay no trophy at His feet?

Must I go and empty handed? Must I meet my saviour so?

Not one soul with which to greet Him – Must I empty handed go?

The story was told of a young man who was about to die. This young man had been a Christian for only one month. Though thankful to the Lord for granting him salvation during his final hour, he was nevertheless grieved that he'd had no opportunity to serve the Lord nor to share Him with others. He explained, " I am not afraid to die; Jesus saves me now. But must I go empty handed? " This incident prompted the writing of the hymn.

Let us heed this hymn's counsel to stop wasting our years in the earthly things that will pass away one day and instead to give them to our Saviour, to strive for the salvation of souls while we still have breath. May we pray to be spiritually energized to take up the burden of sharing the gospel, so that rather than living a life of vanity to later be regretted, we may redeeming the time (Eph. 5:16) and gathered fruit unto life eternal (John 4:36).

Let this hymn provoke our hearts to introduce Jesus to someone while we still have the opportunity. One day the gospel door may not be opened and then we will have lost the opportunity to witness for Him. May the Lord help us and continue to use us in whatever role we have in order to shine for Him.

May all of us at BPCWA redouble our efforts to extend God's kingdom, wherever He calls, both on the home front and beyond our shores – for His coming is even at the door. Our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ said, " I must work the works of Him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh when no man can work." John 9:4.

Blessed 29th anniversary!

In His service

Elder James
