PASTORAL LETTER

Dear BPCWAians, We have just witnessed infant baptisms last Lord's Day. So what is the meaning of, and why is infant baptism practiced?

Biblical Covenantal Command. In Genesis 17:10-11, as part of His covenant with His people, God commanded Abraham, “this [is] my covenant, which ye shall keep, between me and you and thy seed after thee; Every man child among you shall be circumcised. And ye shall circumcise the flesh of your foreskin; and it shall be a token of the covenant betwixt me and you”. Circumcision was a token of the covenant i.e., a covenantal sign. In the New Testament, circumcision is replaced by water baptism as Paul stated in Colossians 2:11-12, “In whom also ye are circumcised with the circumcision made without hands, in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh by the circumcision of Christ: Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with [him] through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead.” This “circumcision made without hands” in verse 11 is explained in verse 12 to be “baptism”. So the New Testament (NT) Jews accepted this change of Old Testament (OT) circumcision to the NT covenantal sign of water baptism. Paul hence did not require Jews or Gentiles to be circumcised, but to be water baptised. But some challenge, saying “How can you say that baptism replace circumcision, since females were not circumcised in the OT?” Well, it is clear that the covenantal signs and seals are implemented differently in the OT and NT. It is up to God to administer as He wishes for OT and NT.

Covenant of Grace through faith in Christ

Passover <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • No warnings given 	Holy Communion (Lk 22:13-20) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • One who partakes unworthily may fall sick or die (1 Cor 11:27-34)

Hence recognising that infant baptism is God's covenantal sign between Him and our family, and we must obey His command to have our infants baptised.

Familial Covenantal Promise. When God covenants with believers, He takes a familial interest in their families too. God has an interest in setting apart believers' children, "For the unbelieving husband is sanctified by the wife, and the unbelieving wife is sanctified by the husband: else were your children unclean; but now are they holy" (1 Cor 7:14). "Holy" means "set apart" as its root meaning implies. That is why it is great insult to God when any family refuses to circumcise their child. It is a rejection of God's gracious gesture of familial care towards the believer's children. Hence God angrily pronounces in Gen 17:14 "And the uncircumcised man child whose flesh of his foreskin is not circumcised, that soul shall be cut off from his people; he hath broken my covenant". "Cut off" literally means to be left out of the Jewish community, and even death. Moses almost lost his child (Ex 4:24-26) when he failed to circumcise him. It is a great affront to God to reject and refuse such a covenantal care. So, infant baptism is the parents gratefully accepting God's promise of covenantal care for their child. Hence it is much more than just a dedication of the child to God, but receiving God's covenantal promises. Infant baptism does not mean the infant is a Christian. When God commanded Abraham to circumcise the eight day old infants, it did not mean that these infants were believers. In fact, some grew up and rejected Jehovah to worship other gods instead. Neither does infant baptism give salvation to the child. The Roman Catholics' erroneous baptismal regeneration for baptising their infants does not make infant baptism wrong. Just like their false teachings about the Holy Communion do not make Holy Communion evil. We still partake of the Holy Communion as Protestants, but with the right understanding and motives. The same applies for infant baptism.

Familial Covenantal Commitment. And while the parents claim God's covenantal promises, they also enter into a covenant with God. As parents bringing your child forward for infant baptism, you are also covenanting with Him that you will bring up the child as God's people. You do not know if the child will grow up to be saved. But you promise to bring it up as one belonging to God. This was exactly what the OT parents did. They exemplified godly examples at home, taught the child God's way (Deut 6:7), brought him to the temple and kept him from idols and pagan beliefs. You too are making a covenant with God that you will do your part to “set apart” the child for God. You are making a vow to bring him up as godly seed for Him. Without this understanding, many parents simply go through infant baptism as a ritual and wrongly think that infant baptism confirms the child’s salvation. Some think infant baptism is the end target for God’s blessing for the child. Conversely, it is just the beginning of a lifelong commitment on your part to bring teach the child diligently in God’s Word, to bring your child to church to be part of its covenantal siblings, and to preach the gospel to your child. But sadly, most parents disappear with the child after infant baptism. The children are not found in the midst of God’s people at church. It only means the parent either did not understand the meaning, or have chosen to ignore their vows to God. But for those who do, God promises to help you as you live this commitment.

I invite you to look for me if you need more explanation if needed. It is my prayer that with the Biblical clarification of infant baptism, parents will do the right thing. And with this understanding, parents will also know how to live after your child is baptised.

Yours in our Lord’s service,
Pastor
